Ashland Swine and Poultry Yards.

E. J. WORST, Proprietor.

Breeder and Shipper of all the Leading Varieties of pure bred Poultry and Berkshire Pigs.

ASHLAND SWINE AND POULTRY YARDS are now one of the largest and most extensive establishments of the kind in the Country, and have stock growing in nearly every State and Territory in the Union and Canada, which is sufficient evidence of its great superiority over many other so called Poultry Yards throughout the Union. As I have received a worthy patronage from the Brethren in nearly every quarter during the past two years, I feel to tender them my warmest thanks, and promise to make the breeding of pure bred stock a Brethren's specialty, as I will be able during the coming season to offer the largest and finest collection of pure bred Poultry and Berkshire Pigs that I have ever before offered to the public.

My stock of Fowls and herd of Berkshires are composed of stock of every fine quality, selected at a great expense from some of the most noted strains in America, and I think I shall be able to furnish as good Stock to Brethren as any other breeders, at a trifle more than half the price usually asked for pure bred stock. Since it costs no more to breed a good quality of stock than it does to breed a poor quality, I hope that no one will fail to consult his best interest in obtaining a good quality of Fowls and Swine which is so essential to thrift and prosperity.

For special price to Brethren, send stamp for Brethren's Illustrated Circular.

All stock shipped by me are guaranteed to give satisfaction. Every setting of eggs shipped by me that does not hatch satisfactorily, I will duplicate the order free of charge.

Write your name, Post Office address, County and State, plainly every time you write, and mention the name of this Almanac

"The Brethren At Work."

A RELIGIOUS WEEKLY.

Edited and Published by J. H. Moore, J. T. Meyers, and M. M. Eshleman. Assisted by R. H. Miller, J. W. Stein, Daniel Vanniman, P. B. Mentzer, and Mattie A. Lear.

The Brethren At Work is an uncompromising advocate of Primitive Christianity; and recognizes the New Testament as the only infallible rule of faith and practice.

It maintains that Faith, Repentance and Baptism are for the remission of sins:

That True Immersion, or dipping the candidate three times face-forward, is Christian Baptism.

That Feet-washing, the Lord's Supper, the Communion, the salutation of the Holy Kiss, the Anointing of the sick with Oil, a Non-conformity to the world in dress and customs are essential to true Christian piety.

It further maintains, that War and Retaliation, Secret Societies &c., are contrary to the spirit of Christianity.

In short, it is a vindicator of all that Christ and the Apostles have enjoined upon us.

No miscellaneous controversies between contributors will be allowed in the columns of this paper, but a clear and unreserved defense of the gospel, order as believed and practiced by the Brethren, will be the leading feature of the paper.

CENTENNIAL ALMANAC FOR 1877.

THE SUN IS THE RULING PLANET THIS YEAR.

THE YEAR IN GENERAL.—The Solar year is dry throughout, a little damp, and tolerably warm.

SPRING.—Will be temperate, in the beginning tolerably humid, especially in April it will be very changeable; May will be pleasant and dry, but near its close it will be chilly with frost; hence the sheep should be kept off the grain, and as much as possible from the meadows.

SUMMER.—June will not be too secure from frost, besides it will be very dry. The beginning of August will be windy, afterwards, clear and calm. The days will be hot, but the nights, cool. The Summer in general will be pleasant, yet it will end with tempestuous weather.

FALL AND WINTER.—Will be agreeable, dry and fine; frost and freezing will be early, yet the cold will be moderate; rough, unpleasant weather in the beginning, which will soon change for the better. February will begin with pleasant weather, and will end very cold, which will continue in March.

SPRING CROPS.—Must be sown as early as possible. Barley and Oats will grow very slowly, yet good in grain. But few peas and beans, unless planted in well manured, moist ground. Flax and hemp will be thin and short. Very little hay. Sheep should be kept from the pasture early in Spring. Aftermath will be good. Cabbage and turnips will be poor on account of drought.

FALL CROPS.—The yield of wheat and corn will be small, but the quality very good. Suffer no sheep on the grain in Spring.

FALL SEEDING.—The Fall sowing should be put in deep, so that in the following hard winter it will not freeze out. It will not be necessary to sow very early.

FRUIT.—Pears will yield better than apples. Cherries, nuts, quinces, and acorns, abundant. Corn, buckwheat, rice, and tobacco will grow well. Potatoes, cabbage and turnips, middling.

GRAPE CULTURE.—If in the preceding year grapes did not yield well, they will do well this year, for Mars, the Sun, and Venus following, make every seven years a good wine-year.

Introductory.

Baron French had been confined ten years in a dark dungeon in Magdeburg, by the king of Prussia, where he could not distinguish night from day, and he thought he had been in it for a much shorter period than he really had, because he had no means of knowing how the time passed, and he had no knowledge of passing events, and he had but few thoughts. And when he was released from his confinement, he was astonished when he was told that he had been in prison so long. The rapidity or slowness with which time seems to move, depends much upon our employment of time. If we have access to a time piece, and watch its measure of time, and are closely engaged in some employment, time seems to move more rapidly than if we are idle.

Time is represented, and justly too, as a messenger with wings. It is also represented as a mower with a scythe. These are suggestive, symbolic representations. Time is ever on the wing. Whether it seems to us to be moving rapidly because we are very busy, or slowly because we are idle, it is ever on the wing, pursuing its course. And what a solemn thought to think how it is mowing down the nations of the earth and hurrying them into eternity!

Another year has passed, and a new one has opened upon us, making numerous new demands, and among these, the demand for a new Almanac. To all its just demands we hope there will be a ready response. To the special demand above alluded to, we have responded, and have prepared for our brethren and patrons a new Almanac. In addition to the ordinary information sought for in the Almanac, we have given as we have done in past years, a list of the ministers in our fraternity, and such other information and reading as our opportunities and space would enable us to do. The "Brethren's Almanac" of former years, has met with a favorable reception, and generous patronage. As we hope our friends appreciate our labors, we appreciate their kindness in extending to us their patronage, and we thank them for it.

We trust our new offering for 1877, in the new Almanac we now offer, will meet with the favor our similar work of former years has met with, and that it will prove as acceptable and as useful as that has done. And while we "discern the face of the sky," let us not fail to likewise "discern the signs of the times," and read in them the onward progress of events towards the consummation of God's redemptive work in the final glorification of the saints. And let us heartily unite in prayerful sentiments like the following:

"Great God, as seasons disappear,
And changes mark the rolling year;
As time with rapid pinions flies,
May every season make us wise."

The First American Bible.

[The following scrap of history, contributed by Elder D. P. Sayler, was published in our papers in February 1876, but we think it worthy of a wider circulation, and therefore we here republish it, with Brother Sayler's concluding remarks.]

"Dr. Joseph Murray, of Carlisle, Pa., recently read an essay on the First American Edition of the Bible, before the Philadelphia Antiquarian Society. He said:

"Although it was in the year 1497 that our country had been discovered to England by Cabot, under Henry VII., yet the first permanent colony did not arrive until 1670 on the east coast of Virginia—the very year in which our version of the Bible was commenced in the mother country. In 1620 the sturdy and virtuous Pilgrim Fathers, having their English Bibles with them, reached their New England homes. And during almost the entire reign of eight sovereigns in succession, the sacred volume had been uniformly imported. During all that time not a man or family possessed a Bible—not a copy had been read or heard read that had not been brought across the Atlantic. True, the printing press had been set up in our land as early as 1639, and though other books were printed, yet the early settlers could not print the English Bible without being subject to a prosecution from those in England and Scotland who published it by a patent from the crown cum privilegio, as did the University of Oxford and Cambridge. Nor did the mother country—guilty of such restrictions or monopoly—ever grant this permission to her colonized children, until at last it was wrested from her. So that the first Bible in English with an American print was not published till more than 160 years after the arrival of the Mayflower. In 1664 the Rev. John Eliot had printed at Cambridge, Massachusetts, the Bible in the language of the Natick Indians. This was the first Bible printed, but not being in the English language, a patent cum privilegio, was not required. In 1748 Christopher Sauer, or Sower, at Germantown, Pa., published the first German edition of the Bible, after having been three years in press.—But it was not until about 170 years after the first English colony had been planted in America (at Jamestown, Va., 1607), that the Bible in the English language was printed. During this long period, as stated, the colonists were dependent upon the press of the old country for their supply of the sacred Scriptures.—After Independence had been declared, however, such was the scarcity of Bibles that Dr. Allison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, and others, memorialized Congress upon the subject, and that body, in 1777, appointed a committee to confer with printers, with the view of having published 30,000 copies at the expense of Congress, to be reimbursed by the sale of the books.—(Journal, September 11. 1777.) The difficulty of obtaining type and paper induced the committee to recommend to Congress to direct the Committee on Commerce to import, at the national expense, 20,000 English Bibles from Holland, Scotland, or elsewhere, and Congress ordered the importation. But afterward, when the unsettled state of the country and its commerce prevented the execution of this order, Congress resumed the subject of printing, which was referred to a committee of three, in which the Rev. George Duffield, of the presbyterian church, and the Rev. William White, of the Episcopal, chaplains of Congress, assisted. And the first American edition of the Bible, in the English language was printed in 1771-2 in small duodecimo form and brevier type."

My object in having this scrap of history published in the brethren's periodicals is to preserve it from oblivion by circulating it throughout our beloved brotherhood. At this age of the church but few of her members, and, perhaps, none outside of her, know that this Christopher Sauer, or Sower, who by his private means and enterprise, published the first American edition of the Bible in the German language, was one of the early or first preachers in the German Baptist Brethren church when organized in America. And this he accomplished 24 years before the Bible was published in the English language by national aid.

The cost and labor to publish the Bible in the German language certainly is equal to that of publishing one in the English; yet to accomplish the latter, the nation must be solicited to aid; while one dear old brother, unnoticed, unappreciated by a scoffing world which gloried in calling him tunker, dipper, meekly lays his hand to his press and prints and publishes one himself. Brethren, what a scene there will be when eternity will reveal all things! The brethren who are crying for the order of the old brethren, and yet are doing all in their power to lock

The first month of our present Calendar is called January, from Janus, who, in mythological history was the earliest of the Italian kings, and who, as well as his successors Picus and Faunus, was worshiped by the Etruscans and Romans. He was regarded as the porter of heaven, opening the year and presiding over the seasons; the keeper of earth, sea and sky; the guardian of gates, on which account, as every door looks two ways, he is commonly represented with two heads with the faces turned in opposite directions to see the east and the west without turning. Macrobius says that the first month was dedicated to Janus because, from its situation, it might be considered to be retrospective to the past, and prospective to the opening year. At Rome, the temples of Janus were numerous; and in time of war the gates of the principal one were always open, and in time of peace they were closed. It is said that they were closed but once between the reign of Numa and that of Augustus. "In reference to this attribute he has the epithets of Clusius and Patuleius, the shutter and opener. All his attributes, numerous and complicated as they are, appear to have reference to this notion of opening and shutting, and are explained by those who see in Janus a modification of the sun, in reference to the phenomena of day and night, and the pervading, vivifying influence of the solar rays." The name of Janus is probably a corruption of Dianus, as Jana is of Diana. Dianus and Diana, from dies, 'day,' were the names of the god and goddess of light, the former representing the sun, or greater light, and the latter the moon.

It is argued by some (we might say fanatics) that Christians should not use the names of the months as found in the civil Calendar; but such persons are rather to be pitied and taught than to be heard and followed. If the use of words of mythologic or heathen derivation or reference should make idolaters of us, woe to us all.

Early Training.

BY PROF. HOWARD MILLER.

Few parents appreciate the importance of early training. There seems to be an impression extant that about the age of eighteen a youth's character is set, but long before that children are made what they are. The fact is, that the vast majority of persons regard the age mentioned as the threshold of manhood, and the training just blossoming as yet in the bud, while for long years the inherent character existed as we find it developing, though as few have much intercourse with children, it is not noticed or remarked.

Years of close observation and frequent investigation on diversified material lead me to believe that the formative period of character lies between the age of two years and six years. This belief is not based on isolated examples, but is the result of investigating the peculiarities, good and bad, of considerably more than one thousand young persons, that, at different times, came under my care, requiring a close study of their mental and moral make-up.

Our children get their character from us while they are babies, as they get our property when they become older. It is said of a liar or thief, "He came honestly by his traits," and the proverb in ninety-nine cases out of the hundred is based on truth: A child at the age of two years, or even younger, begins to observe and to remember what it sees and hears.

Parents are horrified to detect their child in an unblushing lie, forgetting the many instances in which the child has received a lesson like the following: "Give me a cent."—"Oh, don't bother me; I haven't got any." This might be true enough sometimes, but in this instance the little three year old knows it is a lie, but does not know it by that name. In years after this early seed-sowing, it blossoms and bears its deadly fruit, and we grieve and wonder at the tangled web we have woven.

Not a single word we utter leaves the world as before, physically considered, and its effect in the domain of youthful morals has never met the attention it merits. There are kinder-garten schools for children from two years old to eight years, but there is no kinder-garten morality. A lie is a lie, if it is only about a grain of corn

This is the name of the second month of the year. The name is derived from februo, to purify, cleanse. This month which was not in the Calendar of Romulus, was added to the year by Numa, who assigned it the twelfth place in his Calendar; and it was afterward transferred to its present place by the Decemviri. In this month the Lupercalia were celebrated. The Lupercal was a feast of the Romans in honor of Pan. This Pan was a deity of the Greek mythology, whose native country was Arcadia. He was the god of shepherds, the guardian of bees, and the patron of fishing and fowling. According to Servius he was also regarded as the god of nature, a personification of the Universe. He is commonly represented as combining the form of man with that of a beast, having the body of a man, a red face with a flat nose, two horns on his head, and the beard, legs, thighs, tail and feet of a goat, holding the syrinx, a kind of pipe musical instrument of his own invention. In the early myth-history, this Pan is said to have been present at the battle of the Titans, assisting in routing them by a wild noise which he produced by blowing in a sea shell. It is also said that he accompanied Bacchus to India, and on one occasion scared the enemy away by uttering a loud scream which was repeated by the echoes. From these incidents we have the word panic, meaning a sudden fright, especially a sudden fright without real cause, or terror inspired by a trifling cause or misapprehension of danger.

to a mere child, as well as a perjurer's oath on the witness' stand.

Train up a child in the way he should go, and however much he may deviate from that training, he will be sure to remember his first impressions and come back to them. Give the child from the earliest inception of thought and speech correct bent, and in youth and manhood it matters little who gets hold of him, or what may befall him, for the cup that is full will hold no more, and what is put into the fountain head is put into the whole stream.

came ministers, and the other a deacon. They were all faithful ministers, planted many churches, not only in Virginia, but also in Tennessee and Ohio, and all lived to be old men. Martin Garber, one of the seven, remained in the county near the home of his father, traveled much and labored faithfully in the cause of the Redeemer; and many of the old brethren in Ohio and elsewhere remember him to this day. His name may be seen connected to some of the writings of the old brethren in the Encyclopedia. He was Elder of the First District of Va., which then extended from Harrisonburg to the Md. Line.

When the membership became large, the District was divided, and Jacob Wine, grandson of Martin Garber, became first Elder in the Flat Rock District. The District took its name from the rock on which the meeting house is built, it being one mile from where Martin Garber lived. This rock has an area of about one acre, with a slightly southern aspect. It was deeded to the church by Bro. Michael Wine Sr., now in his eighty-sixth year, who lives in a house in which over eighty years ago a yearly meeting was held. The house was not more than half full of people. An old man from the South Branch being present, said that the house was so large, there ought to be two preachers.

The Lord has so blessed the labors of the brethren in the Flat Rock District that it has never been necessary to call in the aid of adjoining churches in the settlement of any difficulty originating in the District. May its future be as bright as its past had been glorious; and may God preserve, one and undivided, every part of our beloved Zion.

DANIEL HAYS.

August 22nd, 1876.

Organization of the Coal Creek Church, Fulton Co., Ill.—Our first Acquaintance with Bro. George Wolfe, &c.

In the fall of 1844, I, with my family, came to Fulton Co., Ill., not knowing of any members here. In the Spring of 1845 my brother-in-law, David Zuck, and his family came. He was in the second degree of the ministry. After settling down, we held social meetings at our houses every two weeks. At first we had small congregations, but after our neighbors heard of it, our congregations increased. During our meetings we became acquainted with three or four members from Ohio, of whom were Brother John Markley and his wife, who had been

The third month of the year is called March. The Latin name is Martius, which, according to Webster, is "from Martius, belonging to Mars, the god of War." Mars among the Romans is mostly regarded as corresponding to the Greek Ares. He is commonly represented with a beard, but in other respects the same as Ares, with a stern, thoughtful expression, "firm, nervous, muscles, a strong fleshy neck, and short bristly hair; the mouth is small, the lips full, and the eyes deep-set." "When not naked, his dress is a chlamiss,"—a loose coat. (See Penny Encyclopedia.) The Romans also had a goddess of war, called Belona. This was according to a principle in their mythology by which a male and a female deity were always supposed to preside over the same object of desire or fear. According to tradition, Mars was the father and Rea Silvia the mother of Romulus, who is supposed to have founded Rome in the year 752 B. C. Romulus was the captain of about 3,000 outlaws, who built some huts on a hill called the Palatine, and surrounded them with a wall. This was the origin of the most famous city in the world. This wall was so low that Remus, the brother of Romulus, leaped over it, crying contemptuously, "Do you call this the wall of a city?" For this Romulus struck him dead. This was the first blood that crimsoned the walls of Rome:

Very early in the progress of Christianity, there was a church founded in this famous and proud city, no doubt, by the instrumentality of those who were present in Jerusalem on the memorable Pentecost, who were called "strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes." The precise time is not now known; but Paul wrote his letter to the "called of Christ" in Rome, perhaps, as early as A. D. 56. The object of this epistle was to demonstrate the superiority of the gospel to every other system of religion. (Rom. 1: 16.) During the general persecution of Christians by Nero, Paul, a Roman citizen, was beheaded at a place called the Salvian waters, about three miles from Rome, and his body was interred in the Ostium way.

here several years when we came. In the fall of 1847, Brother Daniel Martin and his family came. He was an ordained elder. (We all emigrated from Welsh Run, Franklin Co., Pa.) We then commenced holding meetings in the school-houses regularly. We had then a small organized body of about eight or nine members.

About a year or less afterward, one Sunday morning, a man by the name of Easign called at my house to shelter from a storm. After some conversation, he asked me to what denomination we belonged. I answered that we be-

"Yes," I said, "we have soup at our communion meetings." Then he said, "I know a man by the name of Wolfe, in Adams Co., an able preacher, who belongs to your church." I asked for his first name and his address, but he could give neither. He, however, said he had a brother-in-law living in the same county, who also belonged to the same church, whose address was Liberty, Adams Co., Ill. I made a note of this.

A short time after the above occurred, I wrote to Brother Wolfe, in care of Brother Bushnel. In about two weeks after I wrote, Brother Bushnel came up to see us. I was not at home when he came, and did not get to see him; but my wife and he had a conversation and concluded that they had the same faith. Through that visit we got Brother Wolfe's name and address. I then opened up a correspondence with him, and gave him several invitations to visit us. As nearly as I can recollect, in the fall of 1849 we appointed

OUR FIRST LOVE-FEAST.

Brother Samuel Garber and several brethren from Ogle Co., Ill., were with us. Brother Wolfe was also invited, and he came. At our meeting, our being strangers to each other, of course, led to some inquiry. After counseling we all concluded to commune, and to wash feet in the single mode (as it is called).

At the next Annual Meeting Brother Garber, I think, introduced Brother Wolfe, and was probably reproved for what we had done. Afterward Brother Wolfe visited us frequently, and was known to the Brotherhood in general.

Our church at present numbers about sixty members. We have four ministers, (two of whom are ordained elders, one in the second degree, and one in the first degree,) and three deacons. We have numbered from forty to sixty for the last twenty years, our loss by death and migration being balanced by accessions.

The Past and the Future.

The past we have seen, but the future we hope for. The year that has just closed was an eventful one. Many looked forward with bright anticipations of seeing it. Great preparations were made to celebrate in it the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Nation's Birth-day. Finally

The fourth month of the year is called April, from aperire, to open, either from the opening of the earth in producing vegetation, or the opening of the buds. April is not named after any of the heathen deities; but in many enlightened and Christian countries there is a custom of making April-fools on the first day of this month, which should be discouraged by every lover of truth and equity. If not of heathen origin, it is supposed to have some connection with an immemorial custom among the Hindoos in India, called the Huli Festival, held in the latter part of March, when mirth and festivity are common among Hindoos of every class, and persons are sent upon errands and expeditions which end in disappointment, and raise a laugh at the expense of the dupe. While the origin of this April custom is unknown, it is conjectured, by some, that it may have a reference to the mockery of our Savior by the Jews, which was about that time. Whether this be correct or not, we wish to impress it upon the mind of every reader of the BRETHREN'S ALMANAC, that this custom is sinful in itself, and injurious in its effects. It is sinful because it is lying, either by words or actions, or, perhaps, by both. You cannot dupe any one by speaking the truth and dealing with him in fairness and honesty; neither can you do so without violating the GOLDEN RULE. When a person is imposed on in such a way, his feelings may be almost anything but pleasant; but he is most likely to feel somewhat injured and vexed, and to lose some confidence in and respect for him who imposed on him. Reader, you cannot afford to lie, to deceive, to treat others as you would not wish to be treated, and to lose their confidence and esteem, all for a little laugh. The fact that it is a custom will make it no less sinful, else the customs of men could change the laws of God. Do it not, but endeavor to be truthful, upright and kind.

the morn of the great day broke forth, saluted by the booming of hundreds of cannons, and perhaps, every church bell in the land sent forth its loudest peals to welcome the great day. The sun arose, passed quietly over us, without seeming to take notice of anything unusual, and set again, when lo! all this ado was only made by man. But we hope for the future. So have the Patriarchs, Prophets and Apostles of old, for the last four thousand years already they have looked forward for a certain great grand event that takes place. Enoch prophesied "Behold the Lord cometh with ten thousand of his saints." The prophet Daniel visionary saw him coming "on a throne like a burning flame." A fiery stream issued and came forth from before

This church at present has a membership of 366, of whom 128 are brethren and 238 sisters. The following are the names of our speakers: Jacob Price and Henry Koontz, elders; Daniel F. Good and Jacob F. Oller, 2nd degree; Jacob Snider, Daniel Baker and John Benedict, 1st degree. We have eight Deacons. A good number of our members are old members and aged in life. One sister is in her 95th year, and another in her 92nd; one brother and two sisters far in 80, a few nearly 80, and seventeen in 70. Is there another arm of the church with so many aged members?

Life Everywhere.

Life everywhere! The air is crowded with birds—beautiful, tender, intelligent birds, to whom life is a song and a thrilling anxiety, the anxiety of love. The air is swarming with insects—those little animated miracles. The waters are peopled with innumerable forms, from the animalcule, so that one hundred and fifty millions of them would not weigh a grain, to the whale, so large that it seems an island as it sleeps upon the waves. The bed of the sea is alive with polyps, crabs, star-fishes, and with sand-numerous shell animalcules. The rugged face of rocks is scarred by the silent boring of soft creatures, and blackened with countless mussels, barnacles, and limpets. Life everywhere! on the earth, in the earth, crawling, creeping, burrowing, boring, leaping, running. If the sequestered coolness of the wood tempt us to saunter into its chequered shade, we are saluted by the murmurous din of insects, the twitter of birds, the scrambling of squirrels, the startled rush of unseen beasts, all telling how populous is this seeming solitude. If we pause

Webster says this month, the fifth month of the year, "is so named in honor of the goddess Maia, daughter of Atlas and mother of Mercury by Jupiter. Greek Maia, properly mother." Others propose different derivations, so that it is somewhat uncertain. (See Ovid, Fasti, V. 483—490.)

In some countries, particularly in England, we believe, it was anciently a custom for all classes to go out a-maying early on the first day of May. This custom was not confined to the vulgar, but was observed by noble and royal personages, among whom King Henry VIII. and Queen Katherine are recorded as having partaken of this diversion. The juvenile part of both sexes would rise a little after midnight, on the morning of the first of May, and, accompanied with music and the blowing of horns, would walk to some wood, where they would break off branches and adorn them with nosegays and crowns of flowers. This done, they returned home about sunrise and adorned their doors and windows with their flowery booty. There were several other May customs, which we cannot notice for want of space. Perhaps most of the May diversions had their origin in the heathen observances practised at this season of the year in honor of Flora, the deity who presided over fruits and flowers. May-day is the first of May; a May-queen is a young woman crowned with flowers as queen at the celebration of May-day. These May customs all seemed to manifest, more or less, a liveliness, and joy, and good will, in keeping with the lovely spring-time.

"Hail, bounteous May! that doth inspire
Mirth and youth, and warm desire;
Woods and groves are of thy dressing,
Hill and dale doth boast thy blessing.
Thus we salute thee with our early song,
And welcome thee, and wish thee long."—Milton.

before a tree, or shrub, or plant, our cursory and half abstracted glance detects a colony of various inhabitants. We pluck a flower, and in its bosom we see many a charming insect busy at its appointed labor. We pick up a fallen leaf, and, if nothing is visible on it, there is probably the trace of an insect larva hidden in its tissue, and awaiting their development. The drop of dew upon this leaf will probably contain its animals, visible under the microscope. The same microscope reveals that the blood-vein suddenly appearing on bread, and awakening supersti-

The Preservation of the Bible.

The fact that this book is in my hand is one of the most stupendous miracles that has ever occurred; for it has been more proscribed, and persecuted, and trodden under foot, than all the books of ancient and modern times together. Were there to come into the midst of this assembly a man who had outlived eighteen centuries—who had been cast into the sea, and not drowned—thrown to the wild beasts, and not devoured—made to drink deadly poison, and not killed—shot at and stabbed, and not injured—would you not believe that the broad shield of Omnipotence must have been over and with him, and that he “lived and moved and had his being in the heart of a perpetual miracle?” This is that man. The Bible has been cast into the fires, but not consumed; it has been thrown into the waves, but not overwhelmed; the deadly and deleterious notes of the Douay and Rheish translators have been forced upon it, but it has not been tainted; it stands before us still, in unshorn and untarnished glory reflecting the love of our heavenly Father, and the destinies of his believing and happy family. That must be the book of God, which has been enshrined in perpetual miracles. The productions of the Greek and Latin muses which men have been anxious to preserve, because they ministered to corrupt taste, have been lost; but the book that protests against men's sins, and rebukes men's lusts—which man hated—has been preserved by man, and in spite of him.

JOPPA.

Joppa is one of the oldest cities in Palestine, if not in the world. When Joshua divided Canaan among the twelve tribes, he gave Joppa (Joppa) to Dan. Joshua 19: 46. From re-

The sixth month of the year is called June, from the Latin Junius, for Junonius, from Juno, because it was sacred to her. Juno, in Roman mythology, was the sister and wife of Jupiter, and the goddess who presided over marriages, and who was supposed to protect married women. Ovid, in his Fasti (vi. 25), makes Juno say that the name was given in honor of herself.

“Ne tamen ignores vulgique errore traharis,
Junius a’ nostro nomine nomen habet.”

The worship of Juno throughout the Poloponnesus, and especially at Argos, was of great antiquity. The Samians, Spartans, and the inhabitants of Epidaurus, Ægina, and Byzantium are supposed to have derived their knowledge of this deity from Argos. The Samians, however, denied this, and asserted that she was born at Samos. Her two most celebrated temples were at Argos and Samos. She was worshiped at Rome with the epithets, Pronuba, Lucina, and Moneta; Pronuba, as presiding over marriage; Lucina, as bringing children to the light; and Moneta, as the warner, to whom a temple was erected on the spot where the house of Manlius Capitolinus stood. The marriage of Jupiter and Juno was a prominent feature in the worship of this goddess. She was frequently represented veiled as a bride, and carried on a car in processions.

How confused and unsatisfactory the worshipping of such deities must have been! How thankful we should be that the living and true God has revealed a knowledge of himself to man! But whilst we are free from heathen mythology and pagan idolatry, we may fall into idolatry that is no less excusable or ruinous. We may make gods of our stomachs, our mortal bodies, our noble minds, our undying spirits; or we may worship our friends or our ministers, or our rulers,—a Washington or a Lincoln,—or, as covetousness is idolatry, our money or other possessions may be our deities. “Worship God.” J. W. B.

motest antiquity it was the principal sea-port of Canaan, as it is to this day. Though thirty miles distant, it was the nearest port to Jerusalem. In building the temple, Solomon brought wood from Lebanon to this harbor. “We will bring it to thee in floats by sea to Joppa, and thou shalt carry it up to Jerusalem.” 2 Chron. 2: 16. When Ezra rebuilt the temple, he again brought “cedar trees from Lebanon to the sea (harbor) of Joppa.” Ezra 3: 7. It now is the only sea-port, of any importance, in Palestine. All persons going to Jerusalem by sea, land here; and all its merchandise is brought through this port. The increase of traffic and travel has given it a new impulse, and of late years in-

Joppa is built on a ledge of rocks which projects into the sea. On this it recedes and rises from the coast, assuming somewhat the shape of a cone, around which large gardens of orange, citron, and pomegranate trees spread. No oranges are so luscious, rich in flavor and juicy, as these at Joppa. The air is redolent with sweetest odors, and the eye is charmed by every color and element of natural beauty. These together with the large yellow fruit pendant from every limb, half hid among the dark green leaves, reminded me more than any other country outside of Italy, of Schiller's couplet

"Kennst du das Land wo die Citronen bluehen, Und wo im dunklen Laub die Gold-orangen gluchen?"

Health in Youth.

Late hours, irregular habits, and want of attention to diet, are common errors with most young men, and these gradually, but at first imperceptibly, undermine the health, and lay the foundation for various forms of disease in after life. It is a very difficult thing to make young persons comprehend this. They frequently sit up as late as twelve, one, or two o'clock, without experiencing any ill effects; they go without a meal to-day, and to-morrow eat to repletion, with only temporary inconvenience. One night they will sleep three or four hours, and the next nine or ten; or one night, in their eagerness to get away into some agreeable company, they will take no food at all; and the next, perhaps, will eat a hearty supper, and go to bed upon it. These, with various other irregularities, are common to the majority of young men, and are, as just stated, the cause of much bad health in mature life. Indeed, nearly all the shattered constitutions with which too many are cursed, are the result of a disregard to the plainest precepts of health in early life.

House Furnishing.

If you are about to furnish a house, do not spend all your money, be it much or little. Do not let the beauty of this thing, and cheapness of that, tempt you to buy unnecessary articles. Doctor Franklin's maxim was a wise one—"Nothing is cheap that we do not want." Buy merely enough to get along with at first. It is only by experience that you can tell what will be the wants of your family. If you spend all

The seventh month of the year is July. It was formerly and originally the fifth month, and in regard to its numerical station it was called Quintilis by the Romans. The Latin name is Julius. It was so named at the suggestion of Mark Antony, in honor to Julius, the surname of Caius Cæsar, the Dictator, who was born in this month.

By examining the calendar page, under "aspects of planets and other miscellany," you will notice that on the eleventh day of this month the Dog-days begin. A great many people do not know why we have about six weeks of Dog-days every year, and why these days are so named. We have often heard young persons asking questions about these Dog-days, which older persons failed to answer. We will try to tell why these days are called Dog-days: A Dog-day is one of the days when Sirius, or the Dog-star, rises and sets with the sun. But what is Sirius, or the Dog-star? Sirius is the brightest star in the heavens, and is called the Dog-star because it is in the month of the constellation called Canis Major, the Greater Dog. Constellations are clusters or groups of fixed stars, situated near each other in the heavens, and designated by the names of animals, or other terrestrial objects, to which they are fancifully regarded as bearing some resemblance. If the reader will notice this Dog-star, and carefully examine the cluster of stars to which it belongs, it may be of service to him in reading other parts of the heavens. Herschel, a noted astronomer, says: "The constellations seem to have been almost purposely named and delineated to cause as much confusion and inconvenience as possible." J. W. B.

your money, you will find you have purchased many things you do not want, and have no means left to get many things which you do want. If you have enough, and more than enough, to get everything suitable to your situation, do not think you must spend it all, merely because you happen to have it. Begin humbly. As riches increase, it is easy and pleasant to increase in comforts; but it is always painful and inconvenient to decrease. After all, these things are viewed in their proper light by the truly judicious and respectable. Neatness, tastefulness, and good sense may be shown in the management of a small household, and the arrangement of a little furniture, as well as upon a larger scale; and these qualities are always praised, and always treated with respect and attention. The consideration which many purchase by living beyond their income, and, of course, living upon others, is not worth the trouble it costs. The glare there is about this false and wicked parade is deceptive: it does not, in fact, procure a man valuable friends or extensive influence.

Scriptural Associations and Incidents.

Egypt, the "land of ancient kings," is rich in sacred associations. Abraham and Sarah flee there for food when the famine is sore in the land. Joseph enters it a slave, and rises to the dignity of a sovereign. The family of Jacob reside in it for more than 200 years, and are led out by a high hand and an outstretched arm. Solomon marries the daughter of her sovereign. Shishak carries his arms into Judea, takes Jerusalem, and carries away "the treasures of the house of the Lord and of the king's house," 1 Kings xiv. 25—27, whose name is still recorded at Thebes as "king of the country of Judah." Zerah, "the Ethiopian," with his army of 1300 chariots, is smitten by the Lord before Asa and Judah. 2 Chron. xiv. 9—13. Tirhakah, "king of Ethiopia," and Necho, king of Egypt, who overthrew Josiah in the valley Megiddo, are mentioned by the sacred historians. Several of the later Pharaohs become the confederates of the kings of Judah and Israel, and one gives to the world the oldest translation of the Hebrew Bible. Many Hebrews with the prophet Jeremiah, flee to Egypt, where the Lord "kindles a fire in the houses of the gods and burns them." And the child Jesus consecrates it by his presence as a holy land. The Lord had blest it, saying, "Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel my inheritance." Isa. xix. 25.

Counsel for the Young.

Never be cast down by trifles. If a spider break his thread twenty times, twenty times will he mend it again. Make up your minds to do a thing and you will do it. Fear not if trouble comes upon you; keep up your spirits, though the day be a dark one. If the sun is going down, look up to the stars. If the earth is dark, keep your eye on Heaven! With God's promises, a man or child may be cheerful. Mind what you run after! Never be content with a bubble that will burst, firewood that will end in smoke and darkness. Get that which you can keep, and which is worth keeping. Fight hard against a hasty temper. Anger will come, but resist it strongly. A fit of passion may give you cause

This month was originally called Sextilis, because it was the sixth month in the Latin Calendar, counting from March, the month in which the primitive Romans, as well as the Jews, began the year. It is said that it retained this name in the Calendars of Romulus, Numa Pompilius, and Julius Caesar. However, from the time of Numa's reform it held the eighth place in the series of months. It derived its new name from Augustus Caesar. It was proposed that September should bear the name of this Emperor, because he was born in this month; but he preferred Sextilis, because it stood next to July, which had been named after his predecessor Julius, and for the farther reasons that in this month he "had entered upon his first consulship—had celebrated three triumphs in the city—had received the allegiance of the soldiers who had occupied the Janiculum—had subdued Egypt, and put an end to civil war." From a consideration of these things it seemed that this month was propitious to the empire, and the Senate ordained that it should bear the name of Augustus.

In the Alban or Latin Calendar this month consisted of twenty-eight days: in that of Romulus, of thirty days; Numa gave it twenty-nine; Julius Caesar restored it to thirty; and Augustus Caesar, from whom it derived its present name, added one day more, making thirty-one. Some persons imagine that there must be something in the grand machinery of nature to determine the number of days in each month. This is a mistake, as it depends entirely on the will of persons in power. If we have twelve months in the year, reason would say that the first, third, &c., should consist of thirty days, and the second, fourth, &c., of thirty-one, except the twelfth, which in common years should have but thirty days, and in leap years thirty-one. But if reason were to decide this matter, she would give us thirteen months in a year, the first of which should have twenty-nine days, and all the others twenty-eight, except that the thirteenth should also have twenty-nine days in all leap years. Such a calendar would afford very many advantages over the present confused notation. J. W. BEER.

to mourn all the days of your life. Never revenge an injury. If you have an enemy, act kindly to him and make him your friend. You may not win him over at once, but try again. Let one kindness be followed by another, till you have compassed your end. By little and little, great things are completed; and repeated kindness will soften the heart of stone. Whatever you do, do it willingly. A boy that is whipped to school never learns his lessons well. A man who is compelled to work cares not how badly it is performed. He that pulls off his coat cheerfully, strips up his sleeves in earnest, and sings while he works, is the man of action.

This month is called September from the Latin septem, seven, so named because it was the seventh month of the Roman year, which began with March. Beginning the year with January, it is the ninth month of the year.

With this brief notice of the month we will drop it, and say something about Ember-days, which this year fall on the 19th, 21st and 22nd of this month. There is a strange—we almost said superstition—opinion afloat, among certain classes, that the position of these days, in the month has something to do with determining the price of produce, especially of cereals. If the days are what is called “high in the month,”—a phrase upon which the doctors of this ism or ology differ,—the price of grain will be high; if otherwise, farmers must suffer. The strange thing about it is that this opinion is held by persons who live in enlightened countries, and persons, too, who profess to be Christians—by many really good persons!

The history of these days tells us that, at first, these days were not uniformly observed by different churches at the same time. (How about the price of grain then?) The Ember-days are certain days set apart for fasting and prayer—for imploring the blessing of the Almighty on the produce of the earth—in each of the four seasons of the year. Their observance was first appointed by Pope Calixtus, in the third century; but it was the Council of Placentia, A. D. 1095, that said the Ember-days should be the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday after the first Sunday in Lent, the feast of Whitsuntide, the feast of the Holy Cross (Sept. 14th), and St. Lucia (Dec. 13th). The Wednesday of our Annual Meeting is always (by the present arrangement) an Ember-day; but the Apostolic Pentecost was about two hundred years before the bishop of Rome had made the Ember-days. Calixtus also ordained that these seasons should be especially devoted to the preparation of the clergy before their ordination; and the Sundays immediately following these seasons are still appointed by the thirty-first canon of the Church of England for the ordination of ministers. The Church should be careful how she sets apart certain days for especial services, lest these days, in generations to come, might be regarded with some superstition.

This month, the tenth of the Julian year, is so named from octo, eight, because it was the eighth month of the primitive Roman year, which began in March. It is said that Domitian who was born in this month, gave it his own name, but it lasted during his life only; that Antonius Pius, in honor of his wife Faustina called it Faustinus; and that the flatterers of Commodus assigned to it one of their patron's epithets, Invictus. Our Anglo-Saxon ancestors called it se teotha monath, the tenth month; also Winter fylloth, winter beginning.

The last night of this month is called Hallow-eeen, or Hallow Eve, because it is the night immediately preceding All-Hallows or All-Saints day, the first of November; a feast dedicated to all the saints in general. On Hallow-eeen it is customary, in many places, for rude persons to play tricks on their neighbors, throwing shelled corn against their walls and windows, throwing cabbage heads in at the doors of their houses or down their chimneys, running off carriage wheels, building fences across roads, or hiding some article that is much used. We have no time to trace the origin of this rude custom, but we think it a very unbecoming and sinful way to introduce a religious feast day. It is true that young persons are frequently led into such conduct without thinking of the evil that is in it, regarding it as innocent amusement; but the fact is that it is a violation of the Golden Rule, and hence it is wrong. We hope that none of our fellow members and none of our children will condescend to this low, sinful custom.

The eleventh month of the year is called November, from Novem, nine, because it was the ninth month of the old Roman year. This month by the ancient Saxons was called Blot-monath (blood month), the month of sacrifice, because at this season the heathen Saxons made provision for winter but offered in sacrifice many of the animals that were then killed. It was common at this season to slaughter oxen, sheep, hogs, &c., for the use of the following winter. The stock of salted meat prepared at this time was to last through the winter, and till vegetation was sufficiently advanced to enable them to resume the use of fresh provisions. This is common in many portions of the United States and other places, no doubt, because it is the most suitable and best time for it.

This is the twelfth and last month of the Julian year. It is called December from decem, ten, as it was the tenth month of the early Roman year.

The twenty-fifth day of December is called Christmas, and is the festival of the church in memory of the birth of Christ, often celebrated by a particular service. It is not at all certain that this is the proper anniversary of our Savior's birth; and, in fact, what little scripture testimony we have, that has any bearing on the subject, seems to be against such a conclusion. In the night in which he was born there were shepherds abiding in the field keeping watch over their flocks; and it seems to have been customary to take the flocks in earlier in the season. It is enough for us to know that Christ came into the world, and that to save sinners, without knowing the day on which the event of his birth took place. We are impressed with the thought that it was the Divine purpose to conceal this time, lest superstition should abuse it. It is, however, right for Christians to meet for the worship of God at any time; and it is certainly much better to improve Christmas-day in religious worship than to spend it in carousing, and gambling, and drinking as many do. We suggest, however, that the Christmas-tree planted in many of the churches on this day is an abomination in the sight of God, and we should oppose such things in every lawful and expedient way.

DR. FAHRNEY'S BLOOD CLEANSER & PANACEA.

Having again been solicited for an advertisement to appear in the Almanac, we take the opportunity to say that we do not advertise very much. We are not inclined to make much show in public print, nor do we boast of the amount of business we do each year. At the same time we are willing to have it known that nearly one hundred years ago a very plain and unassuming man, near the South Mountain, in Washington Co., Md., prepared a medicine which won for him the love and the esteem of the people in that day, and many of the readers of this Almanac have a traditional knowledge of these facts.

That man was our Grandfather, and we are manufacturing that same medicine, and have been doing so for many years.

Those who wish to know more about us can address the publishers of the Almanac; but before doing so please forward your name and address to us on a postal card, and you will in return receive a pamphlet with a full history and much interesting reading matter, together with testimonials from persons whose names are familiar to many of you.

Eld. Zacharias Troyer, of Walkerton Ind., says: "I commenced ordering from you March 14th, 1872. Since then my Doctor bill has only been $2.50. In four years I have sold 1200 bottles, and have yet to meet the first person to say that the Panacea did not do as it is recommended to do."

Albany, Oregon, May 24, 1875.

Dr. P. FAHRNEY—Dear Sir. This is to certify that I bought three bottles of your Panacea or Blood Cleanser of your agent C. Hardman, the use of which permanently cured my wife of Scrofula, of two years' standing.

T. O. MAXWELL.

Rudolph Brubaker, the noted Cancer Doctor, has used this Medicine in his practice for years with success. Many, very many others could be given, if space permitted. It is a general Family Medicine, used as frequently to keep diseases out of families as to cure those already afflicted.

We want agents in every town, village or community where Fahrney's Medicine is yet unknown, and will suitably reward any one who is the means of establishing one or more agents, but make no special efforts with Druggists, as this medicine is sold upon its merits, and conscientious farmers, mechanics or store keepers oftentimes can sell more than druggists.

Address: Dr. P. FAHRNEY'S BROS., & CO.,
OR WAYNESBOROUGH, Pa.
Dr. P. FAHRNEY,
690 W. Indiana St., Chicago.

P. S. The readers of the above advertisement will favor us very much, and may do much good, by sending us the names and Post Office addresses of afflicted persons, and as many others as they can for which they will be reasonably rewarded for their trouble.

Prize Garden Seeds.

BRETHREN AND SISTERS you cannot afford to invest in seeds that are not reliable, such as are sold in nine-tenths of the seed stores; my little experience as market gardener has wisely taught me this. I have a few choice seeds of my own growing that I offer for your inspection. What is not of my own growth is grown for me by one of the most reliable seedsmen in the United States, as all market-gardeners will attest that have tried them.

My Seeds are all Fresh, the growth of 1876, and have not been wandering up and down the world from year to year. Please give me a trial. I have a special offer to make to those getting up clubs made by no other seedsman.

GOOD NEWS for BOYS & GIRLS!!

The Young Disciple for 1877.

Edited by Sister W. A. Clarke.

The first volume of the beautiful and instructive Juvenile paper which has met with such universal acceptance among the Young of the Brotherhood, has now completed its first volume, and has entered the second with the best of prospects for enjoying a much wider circulation, and thus giving thousands of our young folks the benefits of its instructions.

It will continue to be edited by Sister Clarke, who has now the advantage of a year's experience in the work, and as she is among our most earnest workers nothing will be left undone on her part to make it both instructive and profitable to its readers.

It will also have the benefit of the consolidation as it is now published by the new firm, and have the advantages of the assistance of the editors of the Primitive Christian, and Pilgrim, as well as that of many others of our best writers and workers.

In its new relation we hope to make it just such a paper as no household in the brotherhood, containing children, can afford to do without. In this age of the world, when our children are surrounded by every evil influence, and the world literally flooded with books and papers that have a tendency of drawing the minds of the youth away from truth and humility; parents cannot be too careful in providing for the spiritual wants of their children, and we feel assured that there is no way in which the small sum of 75 cents can be so profitably spent, as by subscribing for the Young Disciple.

It is published monthly, 16 pages, in four parts, making four distinct papers, one for each week, thus making it more suitable for distribution and Sunday School purposes.

We want an Agent to work for it in every Church in the Brotherhood. Send for a sample copy and prospectus, and aid us in getting it introduced into every family in the Brotherhood.

For terms, see the last page of the Almanac.

CONSOLIDATED PAPERS.

Gospel Visitor, Established 1851. Christian Family Companion, Established 1854, Consolidated with Gospel Visitor 1874. The Pilgrim, Established 1870. Christian Family Companion and Gospel Visitor changed to Primitive Christian, 1876. Primitive Christian and The Pilgrim Consolidated 1877.

The two Christian Journals The Primitive Christian and The Pilgrim have been consolidated into one paper and will hereafter be published under the name of THE PRIMITIVE CHRISTIAN. The proprietors of the two papers have united their interests in the publishing business to increase their facilities for publishing a Christian Journal with enlarged powers for promoting in the church and in the world the cause of Christian truth.

With the concentration of the writing talent, the union of the labors of the editors, and of the patronage, hitherto divided between the two papers, and the enlargement of the new paper to one fourth more in size than either of the papers has been, it is hoped that a considerable increase of power for accomplishing good will be imparted to the paper under the new arrangement.

The Primitive Christian is devoted to the defense and promotion of Primitive Christianity as held and practiced by the church of the Brethren, or German Baptists. They accept the New Testament as the only proper rule of faith and practice, and maintain the observance of all its doctrines and commandments, among which are Faith, Repentance, Regeneration, Baptism by Trine Immersion administered to believers only, Prayer, Fasting, the Washing of the Saints' Feet, the Lord's Supper, the Communion, the Salutation of the Holy Kiss, Non-resistance, Non-conformity to the world, Non-swearing, and the Perfecting of Holiness in the fear of the Lord.

We have correspondents in most of the congregations of the brotherhood, and hope to have in all to report to us all news of importance, thus enabling us to keep our readers posted in what is going on in the church. We shall also give them some general religious news. And as space will permit, some attention will be given to such secular matters as may be judged instructive to our readers. In short, we shall use our utmost endeavors to make a good, Christian Journal, inculcating sound, Christian principles in a Christian spirit.

The Primitive Christian will be published weekly, in a form convenient for binding, and containing sixteen pages, at the following rates:

Single Copy one yr., in advance, postage prepaid $ 1.60
Eleven Copies " " " " " 16.00
Primitive Christian and Young Disciple " 2.20

THE BOOK TRADE.

We design keeping on hand all books and tracts written and published by the church, and also a number of other religious and useful books, and what we do not keep on hand we will procure when ordered.
